WEB-TO-PRINT

Materials produced by a Web-To-Print (WTP) process include business cards, brochures and stationery that can be printed in full color or in black and white on various papers and in various finishes. WTP systems can also be used for personalization and distribution of other marketing materials such as presentations, seminars, logo items and even email and other electronic media.

VARIABLE DATA PRINTING

Variable Data Printing (VDP) is a form of on-demand printing in which elements such as text, graphics and images can change from one printed piece to the next, without stopping or slowing down the printing process using information from a database or external file.

PRINT-ON-DEMAND

Print-on-demand (POD) is a process in which new copies of a product are not printed until an order has been received. Many clients use POD services to maintain a large backlist and some even use POD for all of their publications. POD is used in many circumstances, such as reprinting older titles that had been out of print or for performing test marketing.

DYNAMIC PUBLISHING

This technology is often leveraged in Web-To-Print solutions for corporate intranets to enable customization and ordering of printed materials, advertising automation workflows inside of advertising agencies, catalog generation solutions for retailers and variable digital print on demand solutions for highly personalized one to one marketing.

INTEGRATED MARKETING PROGRAMS

Adair offers turnkey cross-media Integrated Marketing Programs. These programs use print, e-mail and web based solutions simultaneously to maximize your marketing return on investment. Utilizing multiple media types for a common integrated marketing campaign can increase results tenfold. Using the internet to capture the results of your marketing campaign allows you to measure response rates and measure your return on investment as the program progresses.
